In the latter part of July Mr. Stratton went to the Buffalo Ridge Springs for the benefit of his health. He only stayed at the Springs about a week, when he became worse, and returned home. About a week later he was paralyzed, and lingered until to-day.

Mr. Stratton was one of the most popular and prominent business men of this town having been engaged in the drug business here for many years. He, perhaps, did more for the benefit of the town than any other person.

He had been for a long time a prominent Mason, belonging to Waddell Lodge, No. 28, of this place.

He is survived by seven children—five sons and two daughters.
